PREFACE

Volume 76 of American Book-Prices Current reports the auction season from September 1969 to August 1970. Sales in London and New York are reported as well as eight sales held in Montreal by Montreal Book Auctions in conjunction with Christie's—Canada. For the several auction houses, the number of sales and sessions and the number of entries included in Volume 76 are here tabulated:

	Sales	Sessions	Entries
Christie	17	19	2,415
Hamilton	8	8	1,857
Hodgson	9	16	3,014
Montreal	8	21	2,137
Parke-Bernet	22	33	3,729
Phillips	10	12	430
Sotheby	45	72	10,512
Swann	29	30	4,061

American Book-Prices Current has retained the familiar code designation "M" for all Montreal sales in conjunction with Christie's—Canada, as well as the designation "H" for sales taking place at Sotheby's rooms in Chancery Lane, formerly Hodgson & Co.

Though most sales contained books in all fields, a number were devoted to, or contained large sections devoted to, single subjects. Following is a sampling of some subject areas of particular interest:

AMERICANA. Over thirty-five sales contained Americana in the 1969-70 season. Among the more significant sales were the 7th and final portion of the Streeter Sale, the New Series: Fifth Part of the Bibliotheca Phillippica, sold at Parke-Bernet Galleries (both treated separately below), a sale of Americana from the stock of dealer Peter Decker, sold at Parke-Bernet, November 18-19, a number of books, broadsides, maps &c. from the Revolutionary War period from the collections of the Library Company of Philadelphia and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, January 20, and 2 sales at Swann Galleries of "U.S.-iana and Canadiana" on December 11-12 and May 14. Three single-lot sales of Americana were held at Parke-Bernet: On October 29, following the Philipps Sale, the Dillard copy of the final manuscript draft of Alexander Hamilton's defense of the National Bank brought $12,000; Grenville Dodge's manuscript map of Kansas and the Territories, 1866, was sold following the Decker Americana sale for $4,500; and the second printed draft of the American Constitution, each page annotated by Pierce Butler, was sold following the Library Company/Historical Society sale, bringing the highest price for a piece of Americana for the season, $160,000. This was $5,000 more than the price paid for the first printed draft of the Constitution, sold in the 1968-69 season, but considerably under the $404,000 paid for the first printing of the Declaration of Independence in the same year.

Other high prices for Americana include the first Boston (broadside) edition of the Declaration of Independence, $14,000; a first edition of the Aitken Bible, $13,000; one of 2 known copies of Good Newes from Virginia, 1623 (see title entry), $10,000; Francis Hopkinson's A Pretty Story, 1774, the first American work of fiction, $8,000; a set of Maximilian de Wied-Neuwied's Reise in das Innere Nord-America, 1838-41, $7,200; and a first edition of Henry Lewis's Illustrierte Mississippithal, $5,000.

Streeter VII. The Seventh and final sale of the Celebrated Collection of Americana formed by the late Thomas Winthrop Streeter went on sale at Parke-Bernet Galleries October 21-22, 1969. It included a number of miscellaneous related material not included in earlier sales, in which the books were arranged geographically and chronologically. The first separate account of New Jersey, Richard Hartshorne's A Further Account . . . 1676, was included as an individual subject, and sold for $11,000, the highest price in the sale. Other high prices included: $9,000 for the first edition, first issue of Leaves of Grass; $4,250 for three works by Benjamin Franklin on his electrical experiments, 1751-54; and $3,500 for Christopher Colles's Survey of the Roads of the United States . . . , 1789.

Phillipps V. The Fifth Part of the new series of sales of the celebrated collection of manuscripts, printed books and maps of Sir Thomas Phillipps was sold October 28-29 at Parke-Bernet Galleries, the only Phillipps sale held in America to date. A number of interesting and valuable books and maps were sold, including John Locke's own copy of the Bertelli Atlas, Venice, 1553-70 ($42,000); Thomas Budd's Good Order Established in Pennsylvania & New Jersey, 1685, the second work printed in Pennsylvania ($26,000); Dionyisius de Leuwis's Compendio breve . . ., printed in Mexico City, 1544 ($17,000); a manuscript map of the earliest exploration of Colorado, Utah and Northern Arizona, 1778 ($16,000); a 17th-century Testerian Mexican pictorial manuscript manual of Christian doctrine ($7,500); and the Antwerp, 1584 edition of Ortelius's Theatre de l'Univers, with the first known map with the name "California" applied to the whole peninsula and not only to a cape ($5,800).

The eight sales held in Montreal accounted for most of the Canadiana sold in the 1969-70 season. High prices in Montreal include: $4,000 for M'Kenney & Hall's History of the Indian Tribes of North America; $3,800 for Sagard-Theodat's Histoire du Canada, 1636; and $3,200 for his Grand Voyage du pays des Hurons, 1632.

ENGLISH & AMERICAN LITERATURE & FIRST EDITIONS. A number of sales during the 1969-70 season were devoted to English and American literature. Sotheby's held three such sales, on December 8-9, April 27-28, and July 6-7, while Parke-Bernet, in addition to general literature and fine book sales on September 23, October 7, January 13, March 24 and April 28, held sales of English, American and Irish literature on February 10, and of modern and avant-garde first editions on April 14; a benefit sale for the Center for Editions of American Authors of modern first editions and literary material contributed by modern authors was held December 16.

Most interesting was the Sotheby sale of April 27-28, which included a number of presentation copies of modern first editions, the property of Mrs. Ian Parsons, from the library of the late Leonard Woolf. A large number of books by T. S. Eliot, inscribed to Leonard or Virginia Woolf were sold, including a first edition, first issue of The Waste Land, inscribed to Virginia Woolf, surely one of the most desirable pieces of modern literature sold (£550). A first edition of E. M. Forster's Passage to India, one of 200 copies, inscribed to Leonard Woolf, brought £520, and another, inscribed to Virginia Woolf, £450.

Other high prices for English and American literature were $4,000 for a first edition of Joyce's Ulysses, one of 100 signed (other copies brought £1,300 and $2,300); $1,800 for a first edition of Shelley's Queen Mab, with title & last leaf intact; £2,600 for a first edition of William Morris's Defence of Guenevere, 1858, in a binding by Cobden-Sanderson dated 1886; £1,900 for John Wilbye's First (-Second) Sets of English Madrigals, 1598-1609; a perfect copy of The Fourth Folio edition of Shakespeare, 1685, $3,500. A first edition (1916) of Yeats's Easter went for £550, while a first edition of his Vision, one of 600, signed, went for £520.

The highest price paid for a work of American literature was $9,000 for the Streeter copy of Whitman's Leaves of Grass, 1855, first edition, first issue, while Streeter's first edition of Poe's The Raven and Other Poems, 1845, fetched $1,250. Another first edition of Leaves of Grass, also the first issue, but with the title re-inserted and with a library stamp on its verso brought $1,900; the first English edition of Melville's Moby Dick (under the title "The Whale") brought $1,300; $1,400 was paid for a first edition of Robert Frost's North of Boston in the first binding variant inscribed by Frost with an early version of his poem "Nothing Gold Can Stay"; and $1,200 was paid for the first edition, first issue of Frost's first book, A Boy's Will.

HEBREW BOOKS. The 1969 volume of American Book-Prices Current boasted four full pages devoted to books printed in the Hebrew alphabet. Due for the most part to the sales at Parke-Bernet Galleries of the collection of Michael Zagayski, and at Sotheby's of the first part of the Sassoon collection, the present volume easily outbids 1969: 28½ pages. As we pointed out in 1969: any system of transliteration is at best a compromise. In the current volume, we have attempted to render author's names and titles in accordance with the system used by the British Museum, with some modifications.

High prices among Hebrew Books were: £11,000 each for the Bologna, 1482 edition of the Pentateuch (the first printed in Hebrew), and the Hajar, 1490 Pentateuch bound with the Hajar, 1487-95 edition of the Old Testament; the Prague, 1530 edition of the Old Testament (£5,500); £5,000 each for a Pentateuch of 1520 and an Old Testament of 1524-25, both printed on vellum; and $8,000 for the Prague Haggadah of 1525-27. Prices of some 74 Haggadahs are recorded, with citations to Yaari's Bibliography of the Passover Haggadah. Other liturgical works such as prayer books for festivals and fastdays are listed alphabetically by rite (e.g., Aleppo, Germany, Spain, etc.) under the subheading Liturgical Books.

INCUNABULA & EARLY PRINTED BOOKS. A number of sales contained early printed books. Among the more important sales was that at Sotheby's, May 4, 5 & 6, of Valuable Italian Books of the 15th and 16th centuries: over 750 lots, which included a series of 69 Aldines, 1497 through 1554. Highest prices among the Aldines were: £480 for the Crastonus Greek/Latin Dictionary of 1497, £460 for the first complete edition of the works of Euripides, 1503, and £520 for the Aldine Dante of 1502, the first book in which Aldus used his anchor-and-dolphin device. High prices among incunabula were: £22,000 for the 1465 edition of the works of Lactantius, printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz in Subiaco, with colored illuminated borders; £2,000 for the 1482 edition of Euclid's Opus Elementorum; £2,200 for Petrus de Alliaco's De Imagine Mundi, bound with Johannes Gerson's Trilogium Astrologiae Theologistatae, 1483; £5,500 for the first Latin Bible printed in Venice, 1475, printed on vellum, and £3,500 for Pliny's Historia Naturale, 1476. A number of copies of the first Latin edition of the Nuremberg Chronicle were sold, prices ranging from £500 for a copy in modern boards with 251 leaves, to £1,100 and $2,500 for copies with 326 leaves in 18th-century calf gilt and modern vellum, respectively. A first German edition with 297 leaves brought $1,500. Single leaves from the Gutenberg Bible brought $2,200, $2,000 and $1,900; all were included in A. Edward Newton's essay, A Noble Fragment. Books printed after 1500 included: Peter Martyr of Anghiera's Decades of the Newe Worlde, 1555 (£4,500); a Latin Bible printed by Robert Estienne, 1540, a large-paper copy in a Parisian binding of c.1555 by Claude de Picques, ($7,800); the 1589 edition of Puttenham's Arte of English Poesie (£3,500); Gabriel Harvey's own copy of Florio's First Fruites, 1578, extensively annotated by Harvey (£2,800); a first edition of Hieronymos Girava's Dos Libros de Cosmographia, 1556 (£2,800) and the 1542 edition of Rabelais' Gargantua, bound with the 1542 edition of Pantagruel (£2,600).

MODERN ILLUSTRATED BOOKS. Modern French and German illustrated books were sold in three sales at Sotheby's (October 20, April 13, & June 2—the Abbey Sale), and at the July 1 sale at Christie's. Braque, Bonnard, Dali, Chagall, Klee, Segonzac, Manet, Ernst, and Picasso were among the illustrators represented in these sales. The more outstanding items sold were: Gauguin's Le Sourire (£5,000); Rouault's Miserere (£4,200); Picasso's Eaux fortes originales pour des textes de Buffon, one of 30 on special paper, which brought £3,600; and Rouault's Cirque de l'étoile filante (£3,000).

The sale, on June 2, of modern French illustrated books and bindings, Part V of the library of the late Major J. R. Abbey, offered 100 lots and netted £62,025. The highest prices were: £7,200 for Verlaine's Parallelement, illustrated by Bonnard and in a binding by Pierre Legrand; £2,600 for Balzac's Chef d'oeuvre inconnu, 1931, illustrated by Picasso and bound by Paul Bonet; and £1,950 for Vingt Poemes of Gongora, also illustrated by Picasso, in a binding by Therese Moncey.

NATURAL HISTORY. Books on natural history, including color-plate books and general texts on botany, zoology, ornithology, flowers and fruits, etc., were sold in 25 sales during the 1969–70 season. The most significant item sold was undoubtedly the 1827–38 double elephant folio edition of Audubon's Birds of America: 4 volumes containing 435 hand-colored aquatint plates, "in the finest possible condition." It was sold on November 24, in a special one-lot sale, for £90,000 to the American dealer Ken Nebenzahl. Incidentally, this was also the highest price paid for any single item, or lot, during the season. Other high prices for books on natural history were: £7,000 for Buffon's Histoire naturelle des oiseaux, 1770–86, with 1,008 hand-colored plates (another copy, lacking one volume, brought £3,000); £5,800 for Catesby's Natural History of Carolina, Florida and the Bahama Islands, 1731–43; and $4,500 for Daniel Elliot's Monograph of the Phasianidae, 1872. A large number of John Gould's bird books were sold. Highest prices were paid for: Birds of Austra- lia, with the Supplement, £6,800 (another set went for £6,200); Birds of Asia, £6,500; Birds of New Guinea, £5,000 and £4,800; A Monograph of the . . . Humming Birds, £5,300 and £5,000; and £3,000 for a set of the Birds of Great Britain with the royal monogram on the covers.

PRESS BOOKS. Books issued in limited editions from fine presses were sold in a number of sales during the season. ABPC has maintained the long-established practice of listing these by the various presses, and entries will be found under the following headings: Ashendene, Caradoc, Cranach, Cresset, Cuala, Daniel, Derrydale, Doves, Eragny, Golden Cockerel, Grabhorn, Gregynog, Kelmscott, Nash, Nonesuch, etc. High prices for the season were: £1,400 each for the Ashendene Daphnis and Chloe, by Longus, one of 20 copies printed on vellum, and for More's Utopia, also one of 20 vellum copies, the same price was paid for the Dove's Press edition of Robert Browning's Men and Women, one of 12 copies on vellum bound by Cobden-Sanderson at the Dove's Bindery; £1,300 was paid for Spenser's Minor Poems, one of 15 vellum copies issued by Ashendene; £1,150 for that press's Two Essays . . . of Buildings and Gardens, by Bacon, one of 16 copies, of which St.-John Hornby said that it was "the rarest of the Ashendene Press Books . . . good sport for collectors." $3,250 and $2,500 were paid for copies of the Kelmscott Chaucer, each one of 46 bound in pigskin, and £950 and £500 were paid for copies of the Cranach Press's Eclogues of Virgil, each one of 250 with extra sets of woodcut illustrations. Other Dove's Press books sold were: Carlyle's Sartor Resartus, one of 15 vellum copies (£850); Milton's Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained, each one of 25 vellum copies (£650 and £700); and Emerson's Essays, one of 25 on vellum (£580). Each of the above was in a binding by Cobden-Sanderson of the Dove's Bindery.

SCIENCE & MEDICINE. Some 24 book sales included scientific and/or medical works. One of the most important sales was that at Sotheby's February 16, of important scientific journals, the property of The Royal Society. High prices among scientific works included: £12,000 for William Harvey's own copy of the works of Fabricius, 1625; £1,400 for the 1600 edition of Gilbert's De magnet; £1,350 and £900 for sets of Diderot and d'Alembert's Encyclopedie, 1751-80, and £700 for a set of the third edition; £850 for an inscribed presentation copy of Dalton's New System of Chemical Philosophy, 1810-27; and £800 for Juan de Alcega's Libro de geometria, 1589.

Two sales during the season were devoted exclusively to medical books: that of the third and final portion (M to Z) of the property of the Royal Medical Society, at Sotheby's October 27-28; and that of the medical library of the late Dr. Arnold Rice Rich at Swann Galleries, October 9 (sale 798). High prices were: £3,100 for Jan & Caspar Commelin's Horti Medici, 1697-1701, with 231 hand-colored plates; £2,000 for Parkinson's Essay on the Shaking Palsy, 1817; £1,200 for Semmelweiss' epoch-making work on puerperal fever; £950 for Gamelin's Nouveau recueil d'osteologie et de myologie; £520 for Jacob Rueff's Expert Midwife, 1637; and £520 for Vesalius's Chirurgia Magna, 1569.

VOYAGES, TRAVEL & EXPLORATION, Atlases, Geography, etc. Among the most noteworthy prices of books in this category are: £6,000 for Zeiler's Topographia provinciarum. . . , 1650-1726; £3,200 for an Atlas of England & Wales by Christo Saxton, printed not later than 1582; £2,300 for Mercator's & Hondius's Atlas ou representation du monde universel, 1633; and £2,200 each for Orbigny's Voyage dans l'Amerique meridionale, 1835-49, and Visscher's Atlas minor, c.1700.

Several copies and editions of John Speed's Theatre Of the Empire of Great Britaine were sold. The 1627 edition, together with A Prospect of the Most Famous Parts of the World, 1631, with an inserted 1611 copy of a map of Canaan, brought £2,800; the 1676 edition of the Theatre, with the 1676 edition of A Prospect, sold for £2,900 and £2,600 (twice).

In addition to individual author listings, further prices will be found under the general headings Atlases and Maps & Charts.

AUTOGRAPHS & MANUSCRIPTS. Two sales of manuscripts from the collection of Sir Thomas Phillipps were held during the 1969-70 season. The sale of Medieval Manuscripts, Part V, held on November 25, included manuscripts on papyrus, vellum and paper from the 13th century B.C. to the 18th A.D. The first lot was an Egyptian papyrus fragment containing spells for the scribe Pa-aa (£4,000). The highest prices were: £34,000 for the Breviarium Romanum of Ferdinand I of Aragon, 1482, with 16 miniatures and 25 historiated initials; £23,000 for a late 13th century manuscript bestiary of Pierre de Beauvais; £22,000 for a 10th century Passional and Homiliary of North Italy; £17,000 for Saint Aldhelm's De laude virginitatis, a 9th-century English manuscript; and £14,000 for William of Rubruc's Itinerarium with Guillaume de Digulleville's Pelerinage de vie humaine. The other Phillipps sale contained French, Spanish, Portuguese, Greek, Yugoslav and Slavonic manuscripts, most of which are recorded in Section II of ABPC's Autograph & Manuscript listings. Highest price paid in that sale was £7,500 for a collection of 210 manuscript volumes and 5 printed volumes, comprising an extensive archive of the papers of Juan de Iriarte, librarian of the Royal Library in Madrid, in the mid-18th century.

Two other Sotheby sales were devoted to Western Manuscripts: those of December 10 and July 8. £22,000 was paid for an early XV century English manuscript of "The Mirror of Life" with other devotional pieces; £19,000 was the price for the Anglo-Saxon manuscript will of Aethelgifu (England c.990); £12,000 was paid for a French manuscript of Digulleville's Pelerinage de vie humaine, c.1470-80; and £10,500 for Jean Lemaire's Le Triomphe de Notre Dame, an early 16th-century manuscript with 25 full-page miniatures. A most interesting series of medieval documents relating to Devonshire were sold at Christie's, December 11. They will be found listed in Section I, under England.

Four sales of Oriental manuscripts were held during the season: at Christie's on April 29, and at Sotheby's on December 1 (property of the Kevorkian Foundation), December 17, and July 15. £45,000 was paid in the Christie sale for the earliest known illustrated manuscript of the Khamsa of Nizami, dated in four colophons 788-790 A.H. (A.D. 1386-88); the manuscript contained 23 contemporary miniatures. Other high prices for oriental manuscripts were: £12,000 for a Persian manuscript dated the equivalent of 27 January 1457 of Firdausi's epic, the Shahnama, with 52 miniatures in the Shiraz and Turkman styles; £8,500 for an illuminated Armenian manuscript Bible of the late 17th century; £4,200 for a Turkish translation of the Persian poet Jami's Yusuf and Zulaykha; and £4,000 for a vellum manuscript of the Holy Koran, written in a Kufic script of the 9th or 10th centuries. Listings for oriental manuscripts will be found under their respective languages: Arabic, Persian, Turkish, etc., except for listings of the Koran.

Section II. In addition to all-autograph sales at Parke-Bernet Galleries on October 29, February 17 and May 5, and eight sales at the Hamilton Galleries, some 45 sales during the season contained autograph and manuscript material. One of the most important of the sales cited above was that, on May 5, of the American Papers of Sir Nathaniel Rich, 1585-1636, some 63 lots comprising an important archive of early manuscript material on the early history of the colonies, particularly Virginia and Bermuda. Since many of the autographs are of relatively unknown colonists, it has been thought best to include the greater bulk of these documents under the headings Bermuda and Virginia. The highest price paid in the sale was $17,000 for a manuscript copy of John Rolfe's True Relation of the State of Virginia, bearing Rolfe's signature and a manuscript addition—one of three known contemporary copies, and probably the last version read by Rolfe. A group of documents relating to the affairs of the Virginia Company, 1619-24, brought $11,000; and $10,000 was paid for the autograph manuscript draft of "The manner of publicke worship and Service of God in the Summer Islands," 1618, by Lewis Hughes, a minister in the colony. Hughes composed the document as an alternative to the (to him) unacceptable Book of Common Prayer.

In addition to the Americana cited above in the Rich sale, two other sales of American autograph and manuscript material are worth mentioning. The February 17 sale at Parke-Bernet of autograph letters and historical documents by American Statesmen included a number of letters of George Washington which brought high prices; $5,750 for an autograph manuscript plan for a portion of his proposed adjoining houses in Washington, D.C., $2,600 for a letter of 1778 written from Valley Forge, $2,250 for a 1795 letter about construction of the Federal arsenal at Harper's Ferry, and $2,000 each for letters of 1777 and 1782 on war strategy. A Lincoln letter of 1863 informing General Halleck that Hooker was relieving Burnside as commander of the Army of the Potomac also brought $2,000. The sale on April 7 at Parke-Bernet of Americana (books and manuscripts), included a number of papers of Gouverneur Morris, as well as material relating to the history of Texas. Highest price paid in that sale was $4,250 for a manuscript survey map of the South Bronx, New York, done for Lewis Morris, its owner, in 1675.

In the several Hamilton sales, Americana figured prominently, especially letters by Washington and Lincoln. The highest price paid was $13,000 for a Washington letter of 1791 concerning the development of Washington, D.C. Other Washington letters brought $6,500 (congratulations to Gen. Nathaniel Greene on the progress of the war in 1781), $5,250 (about the French and Indian war, 1758), $2,800 (a war letter of 1777), and $2,600 (a war letter of 1780 to Gen. Anthony Wayne). A Washington letter to Thomas Jefferson, 1792, about establishing the U.S. Mint brought £2,600 in a sale at Sotheby's, July 13.

Manuscript journals of the Revolutionary War, one with an eyewitness account of the execution of Major Andre, the other containing an account of campaigns by a German soldier, 1777-80, brought $17,000 and £1,800 respectively. A document signed by Charles Thomson as Secretary of Congress, 21 February 1787, calling for the Constitutional Convention, brought $5,100. Some Lincoln letters and manuscripts brought high prices: $4,300 for a letter of 1862 about the military execution of Indian prisoners involved in a massacre, $3,600 for a letter of 1864 thanking a small boy (through his father) for a contribution to the war effort, $2,500 each for autograph telegrams, signed, of 1863 and 1864 to General Meade about pardons for deserters, and the same price each for an unsigned autograph manuscript of a speech of 16 March 1861, and a telegram to Grant in Nashville, 1864. An exchange of correspondence between Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan in 1915 brought $5,200, and a similar exchange in 1913 fetched $3,400; $4,600 was paid for a letter of John Paul Jones in 1779; a letter from William Henry Harrison to Daniel Webster in 1840 brought $3,400; and $2,800 and $2,700 were paid for letters of Thomas Paine in 1783 and 1779.

Letters in other categories—history, music, science, etc.—brought high prices also. An ordinance account for ammunition and weapons and a personal expense account, both by Sir Francis Drake in the year of the Spanish Armada (1588) brought £5,500 and £6,500. The original manuscript of “The Examination of Valentyne Symmes and Arthur Tamlin, stationers,” a key document in the story of the Marprelate tracts, each page signed by Symmes and Tamlin, 1589, brought £2,600; and £2,000 each was paid for a collection of 9 manuscript pieces relating to Henry VIII’s divorce from Catherine of Aragon, c.1529 and for a partly autograph letter-book of Talleyrand, 1794–96. A letter with an autograph postscript signed “Your lovinge Soverain Elizabeth R.” 1589, to Lord Willoughby about his successes in France brought £1,500, as did a partly autograph manuscript of regicide Edmund Ludlow’s “Voice from the Watch Tower,” with long autograph notes, signed and dated, 1674. Autograph music by Sibelius brought prices ranging from £550 to £2,200, a collection of 45 of his manuscript songs and other pieces brought £4,800, and a musical autograph of Beethoven went for $2,400. £1,100 was paid for an autograph manuscript lecture by Einstein, and £950 for a series of 10 of his letters, 1944–55.

Among the autographs and manuscripts of literary importance, the following are worthy of mention: The autograph manuscript of John Donne’s verse letter to Lady Carew, the only known autograph manuscript of any of Donne’s English verse, was sold at Sotheby’s for £23,000. A similar price, £21,000, was paid for a collection of original drawings by Edward Lear, including those, with accompanying limericks, for the Book of Nonsense. £9,800 was paid for a series of 21 letters of Dr. Samuel Johnson to John Perkins, 1774–84; £6,500 for a collection of 631 letters from war poet Wilfrid Owen to his family, from the time he was five until 4 days before his death; and £5,000 was the price for an early 17th-century illuminated manuscript of Sir Philip Sidney’s translation of the Psalms, with 68 decorative initials. Other high prices include: £4,000 for a series of c.180 letters of W. H. Hudson to the Ranee Margaret of Sarawak, 1911–22; $12,000 for a literary letter by Edgar Allan Poe of 1845; $5,245 for another Poe letter, 1843, mentioning his selling the story “The Black Cat” for $20; £3,200 for an autograph manuscript of part of Keats’s “Isabella”; and £2,600 for George Bernard Shaw’s autograph draft scenario of a projected film version of “St. Joan,” 1934. The autograph manuscript first draft of Southey’s Life of Nelson brought £1,800, as did a complete set of illustrations by Kathleen Hale for “Orlando the Marmalade Cat. A Trip Abroad,” a group of rehearsal copies of all 4 acts of Oscar Wilde’s play, “A Woman of No Importance,” 1893, with autograph revisions throughout, and a series of 42 letters of Thomas Carlyle to Lady Stanley, 1841–73. A collection of 137 letters of the English painter John Constable to his wife, and 78 from her to him, 1811–27, brought £1,700, and the same price was paid for E. H. Shepard's pen-and-ink map of Pooh Country, for the endpapers of Winnie-the-Pooh, 1926.

Three sales not listed in the main body of American Book-Prices Current are worthy of mention here:

A collection of French literature, the property of Lt.-Col. The Right Honourable Lord Burnham, was sold on the premises at "Hall Barn," Beaconsfield, Buckinghamshire as lot 435 in the Christie sale of September 29 of the property of "Hall Barn," for 2,200 guineas.

The Celebrated Collection of Books and Pamphlets Printed in the Reign of Queen Anne (1702-1714), formed by Peter Smithers, Esq. was sold as a single lot at Sotheby's November 24 for £67,000. The collection, comprising about 3,750 works (not all of them listed in the catalog, which included only a sampling) was bought by House of El Dieff.

The Valuable Collection of Books on the Circus formed by the late J. van Doveren, Esq. was sold at Sotheby's on March 16 just prior to a sale, appropriately enough, of children's books. The circus collection was bought by Dawson's for £8,500.

AMERICAN BOOK-PRICES CURRENT is composed of two parts. Part I, Books, includes Broad sides, single-sheet printings, Maps & Charts, uncorrected proof copy, and original illustrations for printed books. Part II, Autographs & Manuscripts, is divided: in Section I are illuminated manuscripts, manuscripts of religious interest, and early manuscripts of historical importance; in Section II are other manuscripts, documents, letters, drawings and such related material as typescripts and corrected proofs.

Entries are listed alphabetically by author whenever possible, by title when the author's name is not readily available, or by Private Press and Club, illustrator, printer, or publisher headings if such are the associations which attract the collector. Subject headings such as London, Costume, Grolier Binding, Trials, or those for individual U.S. states or cities have also been used. Individual works are in turn listed alphabetically under each heading and include: title; place & date of publication; edition designation; size, binding, and condition of binding; descriptive material, limitation notices; and the sale record—auction house (in code), date or number of sale, lot number, price, and purchaser (when such information has been provided).

There are cross-references to Club or Press books, to books bound together, and to those listed under subject headings.

Users will notice that the listings of 20th-century books frequently lack format and binding. In such instances it may be fairly safely assumed that these books are octavo or duodecimo and bound in cloth. It has been the practice not to include such information for books published after 1900.

As far as possible, entries for books have been bibliographically verified by reference to standard bibliographies and/or catalogs, such as the STC, British Museum Catalogue, Hain, Sabin, etc. Except for incunabula, however, such references are not indicated in the body of our text.

The present volume lists only those books and manuscripts which sold for $20 or £9 or more. It has been found necessary to raise the minimum price limitation (from $10/£3) due to the increasing number of books sold at auction. Users will note that this increase has not appreciably altered the number of entries recorded by American Book-Prices Current.

American and Canadian sales are recorded in dollars and cents, English sales in pounds and shillings. Prices reported by Swann Galleries drop the odd half-dollar, in accordance with price-lists provided by that gallery. On November 18, 1967, the rate of exchange of the pound sterling was set at $2.40, the shilling, $0.12.

The following pages list the abbreviations used in this volume, the contributing auction houses and galleries, the chronological record of sales, and the named consignors of merchandise.
